

ASAM Module 1 – Multidimensional Assessment eLearning

This effective and accessible solution for training will help practitioners understand, assess and implement the six dimensions of the American Society of Addiction Medicine's The ASAM Criteria. Each section is devoted to a certain component of The ASAM Criteria, and information is reinforced through knowledge checks and a final exam that learners must pass in order to receive credit. Skills that reinforce the module's learning objectives are practiced and applied through interactive case studies and followed up with review from Chief Editor of The ASAM Criteria, Dr. David Mee-Lee.

Learning Objectives

- Describe the six assessment dimensions of The ASAM Criteria
- Discuss who can benefit from these Criteria, as well as when, where and how they can be applied
- Analyze the dimensional interaction and holistic treatment approach that are key to these Criteria
- Demonstrate how to effectively assess and implement the Criteria through an individual's admission, service planning, treatment and discharge or transfer to continuing services
- Practice applying the ASAM Criteria to real-life, clinical situations
